

Dolphin Rescue

Can you help this dolphin escape this old ghost net?

Did you know that discarded fishing equipment, including nets and lines, is the second largest source of ocean litter? Every year, around 640,000 tonnes of fishing gear is discarded in the sea! And this number is increasing! Marine wildlife, like seals, turtles and dolphins became entangled in this mess, causing harm or even worse to these magnificent animals!

In order to help clear this up, Paul Watson Foundation UK started the Ghostnet Campaign! Highly skilled divers are trained to dive deep under water to clean up these marine hazards for safe disposal or recycling. Our divers use special equipment, including an underwater 3D scanner to search out potential debris. Check out our Ghostnet Campaign for more information at www.paulwatsonfoundation.uk
